

Metropolitan Washington, DC has one of the highest rates of HIV infection in the United States.

Join the Ryan White Planning Council and help plan the delivery of HIV/AIDS services as well as the allocation of funds received from federal funding. Members need to commit approximately 12 - 15 hours a month fulfilling various duties.

This includes attending a monthly meeting of the full Planning Council, participating in one standing committee that meets once a month, and being actively involved with the Planning Group for their jurisdiction.

The jurisdiction encompasses the District of Columbia, Suburban Maryland, Northern Virginia, and two counties in West Virginia.
